7.	The village of Pechenga, and indeed the whole area, was thoroughly scorched after (sic) the war. Very few civilians are now to be found in the area. but there are many soldiers.
25X1	the frontier troops had green shoulder boards; but
25X1	the majority of the soldiers seen in the area were not frontier troops.)
25X1
8 . 25X1	The airfield at Luostari is in use, but the hangars appear to be derelict.  this airfield was built by the Germans during the war.
25X1	it is situated in the angle between the Pechenga and Naamjokk Rivers, just south of Luostari village. In the neighborhood of the airfield naval-type uniform,
25X1	members of the Naval Air Force.
9.	No official name has yet been given to the new township which has sprung up near the nickel mines. It is known simply as Nikel' (Finnish: Nikkeli).
25X1	It is much more of a town than Pechenge and is laid out in streets. It has two-story houses and a number of shops. More civilians are in evidence here. There is a bus service from Nikel' to Liinakhamari, but the normal method of transport is by thumbing a lift in a nickel or military truck. In the Pechenga-Luostari area, the civilians are mainly women. There is a shop at the Luostari airfield, and at least two at Pechenga; there are post-offices at Pechenga, Luostari, and Nikel'.
10. 25X1	The sites in use by the East Pechenga Geological Expedition, south and south-west of Lucstari, are shown on the map on page 3. The headquarters of the expedition ( Uchastok No. 1) are marked with the figure "1". Two subsidiary sites (marked "2" and "3") were being operated in 1950-51, and together formed Uchastok No. 2. About 300 persons were employed by the expedition, of whom about 230 were engaged in drilling. The site on the River Lammas ("3" on the map) closed down in the winter months.
11.	The Geological Prospecting Party (Geologicheskaya Rasvedochnaya Partiya), located somewhat to the west of the expedition site, had no connection with
25X1	the expedition. prospecting party permanent organization, whereas the expedition would eventually pack up and go home.
· 12.	the climate in the area does not seem too severe by northern standards and is extremely changeable in winter, the temperature
25X1	sometimes varying in the course of a single day from -30° C to a thaw.
